Core Communications, Inc,
Ton80 Communications, LLC

Statement of CPNI Procedures and Compliance
Calendar Year 2018

Core Communications, Inc. and its affiliate Ton80 Communications, LLC provide this statement pursuant to Section 64.2009(e) of the Federal Communications Commission's rules, 47 C.F.R. 64.2009(e), to summarize the operational procedures and policies in place that are designed to ensure compliance with the Commission's Customer Proprietary Network Information ("CPNI") rules. This statement applies equally to each company, which are collectively referred to herein as the "Companies".

The Companies do not obtain, retain or use CPNI, including call detail records, to market any telecommunications services and have trained personnel not to use CPNI for marketing purposes. Should the Companies elect to use CPNI in the future, for marketing efforts, it will follow the applicable rules set forth in 47 CFR Subpart U, including, if necessary, the institution of operational procedures to ensure that notification is provided and customer approval is obtained before CPNI is used or disclosed.

Procedures guarding against unauthorized access to CPNI are part of the Companies' regular monitoring of operations. The Companies' employees are prohibited from disclosing CPNI and have procedures which provide for disciplinary action for such violations, up to and including termination of employment. The Companies have implemented language in the employee manual regarding CPNI and the requirements for disclosure. The Companies' Customer Service Manager conducts training and enforcement of training regarding the regulation of customer information.

The Companies do not disclose call record information over the telephone until the customer is verified. The Companies provide its customers with on-line access to CPNI. On-line customers are required to select a username and password to gain access to their account information. In the event of a lost or forgotten password, the Companies do not prompt the customer for readily available biographical or account information, but instead emails information to the email account of record, which allows the customer to reset the password.

The Companies notify customers via a previously established email address or mails to the customer address of record, all notifications regarding account changes (without revealing the changed information or sending the notification to the new account information), password changes, change in a response to a back-up means of authentication, change to an on-line account, change or creation of an address of record other than at service initiation.

The Companies do not have any retail locations and therefore do not disclose call detail records in-store.

Requests for call detail records by law enforcement agencies are only granted under subpoena.

The Companies have procedures to notify law enforcement in the event of a breach of customers' CPNI, including call detail records, to ensure that notification is provided in the time period set forth in the FCC's rules, or if applicable, when so authorized by law enforcement. In addition, the Companies have a process to record all breaches discovered and will provide notification to the United States Secret Service, FBI and customers, to the extent possible.

The Companies did not take any actions against data brokers in the last year.

The Companies did not receive any complaints about the unauthorized release of CPNI or the unauthorized disclosure of CPNI, including call detail records, in calendar year 2018.

The Companies have not developed any information with respect to the processes pretexters are using to attempt to access CPNI or call detail records.
